

Contents

1	Introduction	1
2	Overview of Pension Systems	7
2.1	The Emergence and Development of Pension Systems Worldwide	7
2.2	Social Protection and Pension Systems in the European Union . .	14
2.3	Pension Systems in Central and Eastern European States	20
2.3.1	Social Protection and the Pension System in the Czech Republic	20
2.3.2	Social Protection and the Pension System in Hungary	24
2.3.3	Social Protection and the Pension System in Poland . . .	28
2.3.4	Social Protection and the Pension System in Slovakia	31
2.3.5	Social Protection and the Pension System in Romania	35
2.4	Conclusions and Personal Contributions	44
2.5	Summary	45
	References	46
3	Socioeconomic and Medical Approaches upon Pensions Systems . . .	53
3.1	National Culture and Civilization as Factors of Influence of Social Protection Systems	53
3.1.1	The Cultural System and Social Protection of the Elderly	54
3.1.2	The Influence of Sociopolitical Organization and the System of Government in Forming the Specific Framework of Social Protection	56
3.1.3	The Role of Education in Substantiating Contemporary Pension Systems	59

3.2	Influence of Demographic Changes on the Labor Market and Pension Systems	61
3.3	Aspects Regarding the Sociomedical Characteristics of Pension Systems	69
3.4	Conclusions and Personal Contributions	73
3.5	Summary	73
	References	74
4	Modeling the Impact of Socioeconomic and Medical Characteristics on Public Pension Systems in Central and Eastern European Countries	77
4.1	General Aspects	77
4.2	Research Methodology and Data Used	80
4.3	Empirical Results	83
	4.3.1 Model I: The Economic Impact of Pension Systems . . .	83
	4.3.2 Model II: The Social Impact of Pension Systems	87
	4.3.3 Model III: The Medical Impact of Pension Systems . . .	92
4.4	Conclusions and Personal Contributions	95
4.5	Summary	98
	References	98
5	Private Pension Funds	101
5.1	Mandatory Private Pension Funds	103
5.2	Voluntary Private Pension Funds	110
5.3	Investment Policy of Private Pension Funds in Central and Eastern European Countries	115
5.4	Conclusions and Personal Contributions	118
5.5	Summary	119
	Annex: Specific Aspects Regarding the Administration of Private Pension Funds in Romania	119
	References	122
6	Personal Savings and Investments in the Financial Market	125
6.1	Financial Literacy and the Importance of Financial Inclusion in Central and Eastern European Countries	125
6.2	Personal Savings Through the Banking System	126
6.3	Personal Investments in the Stock Market	129
6.4	Conclusions and Personal Contributions	130
6.5	Summary	131
	References	131
7	The Importance and Role of Social Policy in Maintaining Macroeconomic Stability	133
7.1	The Risk of Poverty and Severe Material Disadvantages Among the Population	133
7.2	Benefits of Public Pension Systems and the Welfare of the Elderly Population	135

7.3	Conclusions and Personal Contributions	139
7.4	Summary	140
	References	140
8	Modeling the Macroeconomic Effects of Pension Systems	143
8.1	General Aspects Regarding the Macroeconomic Effects of the Pension Systems	143
8.2	Research Methodology and Data Used	145
8.3	Empirical Results	148
8.3.1	Model I: Macroeconomic Effects of Pension Systems— Ex Ante Provision of Income Through the Social Protection System, Including Pensions	148
8.3.2	Model II: Macroeconomic Effects of Pension Systems— Ex Post allocation of Social Benefits Through the Pension System	154
8.3.3	Model III: Macroeconomic Effects of Pension Systems from an Investment Perspective	159
8.4	Conclusions and Personal Contributions	166
8.5	Summary	166
	References	167
9	Financial Sustainability of Public Pension System	169
9.1	Fiscal Policy: Implications from the Perspective of the National and European Fiscal Area	169
9.2	Social Contributions and Tax Compliance	174
9.3	State Social Insurance Budget	180
9.4	Conclusions and Personal Contributions	187
9.5	Summary	187
	References	187
10	Econometric Study on the Financial Sustainability of Public Pension Systems	191
10.1	General Aspects Regarding the Sustainability of Public Pension Systems	191
10.2	Research Methodology and Data Used	193
10.3	Empirical Results	197
10.3.1	Model I: Sustainability of Pension Systems in CEE Countries Through SSIB Revenues	197
10.3.2	Model II: Sustainability of Pension Systems in CEE Countries Through SSIB Pension Expenditures	208
10.4	Conclusions and Personal Contributions	217
10.5	Summary	220
	References	220
11	Conclusions and Final Remarks	223
	List of Abbreviations	227